

BRIGADIER GENERAL DOUGLAS S. LOWREY
Commanding General
United States Army Security Assistance Command

Brig. Gen. Douglas S. Lowrey is the Commanding General of the U.S. Army Security Assistance Command (USASAC).

USASAC leads the AMC Security Assistance Enterprise; develops and manages security assistance programs and Foreign Military Sales (FMS) cases to build partner capacity; supports COCOM engagement strategies; and strengthens U.S. Global Partnerships.

USASAC is the Premier Security Assistance Organization in the Department of Defense. Its mission is to implement approved U.S. Army Security Assistance programs, including FMS of defense articles and services, to eligible foreign governments. The Command manages FMS cases with over 140 countries, with a total value exceeding $205 billion, as well as coproduction of Army materiel.

Today, the Command is increasingly responding to support of U.S. Government emergency assistance, humanitarian relief, and Operations Other Than War, including United Nations peacekeeping operations. USASAC's motto is "USASAC – The Army's Face to the World."

An Oklahoma native, Brig. Gen. Lowrey was commissioned as an Infantry Officer in 1994 after graduating from Northeastern State University, Tahlequah, Oklahoma Reserve Officer Training Corps.
