

Brigadier General Rhett R. Cox
Commanding General, United States Army Counterintelligence Command

Brigadier General Rhett Cox was commissioned in the US Army Military Intelligence Corps through the ROTC program at the Virginia Military Institute in 1993. Following graduation from the Military Intelligence Officers Basic Course, he was assigned to the 2nd Infantry Division, Republic of Korea, where he served as a Battalion S2 in 2nd Brigade. BG Cox was then assigned to the 10th Mountain Division (Light Infantry), Fort Drum, New York, where he served as an Assistant Brigade S2 for 1st Brigade and a Collection and Jamming Platoon Leader and Battalion Maintenance Officer in the 110th Military Intelligence Battalion.

After graduating from the Military Intelligence Officers Advanced Course and Combined Arms and Services Staff School he was assigned to the Eighth United States Army in Yongsan, Republic of Korea, where he served as a G2 Plans Officer for the Ground Component Command Deep Operations Coordination Cell. BG Cox was then assigned to the 513th Military Intelligence Brigade, Fort Gordon, Georgia where he served as the Assistant Brigade S4 and the Deputy Analysis and Control Element Chief, Alpha Company Commander, and Battalion S3 in the 297th Military Intelligence Battalion.

He was next assigned to the U.S. Army Intelligence Center, Fort Huachuca, Arizona, where he served as an instructor for the Military Intelligence Captain's Career Course, the Director of the Joint Intelligence Training Center, Battalion S3, and Battalion Executive Officer in the 304th Military Intelligence Battalion. After graduating from the U.S. Army Command and General Staff Officer's Course at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, he was assigned to the Department of the Army G2 at the Pentagon, serving as a plans officer, Plans and Operations Directorate.

BG Cox was then assigned to the 10th Mountain Division (Light Infantry), Fort Drum, New York where he served as Commander of the 2nd Brigade Special Troops Battalion, 2nd Brigade Combat Team and later as the 10th Mountain Division Command Inspector General. Following graduation from the National War College at Fort McNair, Washington, DC, he was assigned to the Immediate Office of the Secretary of Defense in the Pentagon where he served as the Army Military Assistant to the Department of Defense Executive Secretary. Next BG Cox served as the Commander of the 704th Military Intelligence Brigade at Fort Meade, Maryland. He was then assigned to NATO Allied Land Command in Izmir, Turkey, as the Assistant Chief of Staff G2.

He was next assigned to US Army Intelligence and Security Command, Fort Belvoir, Virginia, where he served as the Deputy Commander. BG Cox was then assigned to the Department of the Army G2 at the Pentagon serving as the Executive Officer to the G2. BG Cox most recently served as the Deputy Chief for Counterintelligence Integration, Strategic Competition Group, Defense Intelligence Agency at Joint Base Anacostia-Bolling, Washington, DC.