

Independent. Victim Centered. Justice Focused.

On Dec. 28, 2023, the Office of Special Trial Counsel (OSTC) became fully operational. OSTC exercises independent authority over certain crimes called covered offenses.

Victims are assisted through the legal process by the prosecution team, including Special Victim Liaisons. Every victim receives honest and open communication throughout every stage of the case.

13 Covered offenses include rape, sexual assault, homicide, domestic violence, stalking and most other sexual misconduct cases.

To report a crime or find out more information about victim support services visit the website www.army.mil/ostc or at the QR code.

“By applying a justice-centered approach, grounded in the due process protections of the Constitution, the Office of Special Trial Counsel will help to fulfill the Army’s covenant with victims of crime while supporting readiness along with good order and discipline across the force.”
