Chapter 2

General Provisions

2–1. Nature of the gift

a. Unconditional monetary gifts cannot be accepted by the Army and will be considered miscellaneous receipts and forwarded to the U.S. Treasury pursuant to 31 USC 3302(b). Monetary donations left on headstones, monuments, or other places of interest within an Army National Military Cemetery will be considered a gift to benefit the cemetery.

b. Gifts of services will be closely examined to determine if the circumstances permit acceptance of this type of gift. Pursuant to 10 USC 2601(a), services that are ancillary or incidental to a gift, as well as services offered by a certain category of donors to benefit an Army museum program, may be accepted. Services for certain Army personnel may be accepted pursuant to 10 USC 2601(b). Services from a foreign government or international organization for defense programs may be forwarded through the SECARMY to the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) for acceptance pursuant to 10 USC 2608 (see chap 4).

c. Multiple gifts given close in time from the same donor for the benefit of the same DA organization will be aggregated for acceptance and accountability purposes. Delegated acceptance authorities will not split a gift to process multiple gifts and avoid exceeding the value threshold assigned to their delegation of authority.

2-2. Nature of the donor

- a. Donors doing business or seeking to do business with DA, such as defense contractors, are prohibited sources (see glossary, section II for a complete definition of the term “prohibited source”).
- b. Acceptance authorities can accept gifts from prohibited sources only under specific conditions, including if acceptance will not cause embarrassment to DA or give the appearance of donor influence over official DA decisions or actions.
- c. Gifts offered by prohibited sources with a value of $10,000 or more require additional scrutiny under legal review (see para 2-7c(1)).
- d. Acceptance authorities may not accept gifts offered indirectly through an intermediary if they could not accept such a gift if offered directly from the source.

2-3. Expenses before acceptance

Officials receiving a gift offer must inform the prospective donor that the Army cannot assume responsibility for any expenses incurred before the offered gift is accepted, even if the Army has temporary custody of the offered gift.

2-4. Custodian responsibility

- a. The Army will not assume custody of any gift (personal or real property, money, or negotiable instruments) before it has been accepted.
- b. In circumstances that may require an exception to this policy, a request for an exception to policy will be staffed through command channels to the Army Gift Program Coordinator for the AASA's decision.
- c. Army libraries are granted an exception to policy to temporarily take custody of library materials offered as gifts for evaluation and for determining whether to accept them as part of the library's collection in accordance with AR 25-97. The library will return items not accepted to the donor if feasible or dispose of the items in accordance with AR 735-17. Library materials accepted for the collection will be processed as gifts and reported on the quarterly report to the Army Gift Program Coordinator.

2-5. Acceptance of a gift

- a. The gift acceptance authority will—
 - (1) Accept the gift, in writing, on behalf of the Army and, when appropriate, inform the donor where to deliver or send the gift.
 - (2) Direct the benefiting organization to account for gifts of tangible personal property or real property in the applicable property accountability management system.
 - (3) Upon acceptance of a gift of construction, authorize a right-of-entry for construction. However, contractors must comply with local policies and regulations to gain right-of-entry to the military installation.
 - (4) Ensure proffers valued at or above $25,000 include a list of all donors (for example, individuals or companies) in the gift packet.
- b. The title to, or ownership of, a gift of tangible or intangible personal property passes to the United States when a person authorized to do so accepts the gift offer.
- c. Upon acceptance of a gift of land, the real estate division in the appropriate U.S. Army Corps of Engineers District will sign the deed and assume title to the property.

2-6. Circumstances to decline acceptance

- a. The gift acceptance authority will only accept a gift when it is in the Army's best interests to do so.
- b. Acceptance is not in the Army's best interests when the following circumstances exist:
 - (1) The gift or a condition attached to use of the gift is inconsistent with applicable laws or regulations.
 - (2) Use of the gift would reflect unfavorably on the ability of the Army or its personnel to carry out any responsibility or duty in a fair and objective manner.
 - (3) Use of the gift would compromise the integrity, or appearance of integrity, of Army programs or any individual involved in such a program.
 - (4) Acceptance of the gift creates—
 - (a) The appearance or expectation of favorable consideration as a result of the gift.
 - (b) The appearance of an improper endorsement of the donor and its events, products, services, or enterprises.
 - (c) A serious question of impropriety in light of the donor's present or prospective business relationships with DoD.

- (5) The expenditure or use of funds is in excess of amounts Congress appropriated.
- (6) The gift requires substantial expenditures or administrative efforts and maintenance that are disproportionate to any benefit.
- c. Only the gift acceptance authority may decline a gift. The gift acceptance authority will acknowledge the offer and inform the donor in writing that the Army declines to accept the gift.
- d. The gift acceptance authority will not accept any gift, devise, or bequest of real property, personal property, money, services tangible, or intangible personal property as specified for use by or for a specific Army entity, program, or other similar designation that the DA accepts and executes as the donor conditioned referring to—
 - (1) The Confederate States of America (commonly referred to as the “Confederacy”).
 - (2) Any person who served voluntarily with or held leadership within the Confederate States of America.
 - (3) A Confederate battlefield victory.

2–7. Legal review

- a. The organization or entity to benefit from a gift will consult with an ethics counselor to obtain a written legal review for—
 - (1) Any testamentary gift, regardless of value.
 - (2) Any gift proffer valued at more than $250 that a delegated gift acceptance authority can accept.
- b. An ethics counselor in the legal office that supports the organization or entity to benefit from a gift, subject to guidance from their own legal chain of command, will consider the following when preparing a written legal review of a gift proffer—
 - (1) Whether statutory authority exists to accept the type of gift (money, personal property, real property, or service) proffered by the type of donor (person, domestic organization, foreign government, or international organization).
 - (2) Whether acceptance of the gift is prohibited because—
 - (a) Use of the gift would result in the violation of any prohibition or limitation otherwise applicable to such program, project, or activity.
 - (b) The conditions attached to the gift are inconsistent with applicable law or regulations.
 - (c) Use of the gift would reflect unfavorably on the ability of DA or any of its personnel to carry out any responsibility or duty in a fair and objective manner.
 - (d) Use of the gift would compromise the integrity or appearance of integrity of any DA program or any individual involved in such a program.
 - (e) The gift was offered pursuant to an improper solicitation or request by Army personnel.
 - (f) Acceptance of the gift is not in the Army’s best interests.
- c. In addition, written legal reviews of gifts valued at $10,000 or more will address the following matters where applicable—
 - (1) When the donor is a prohibited source, whether the donor is involved in any claims, procurement actions, litigation, or other particular matters involving the Army that should be considered before acceptance of the gift.
 - (2) When the gift is for the benefit of certain Army personnel pursuant to 10 USC 2601(b), whether acceptance of the gift is prohibited because—
 - (a) It is offered in a manner that specifically discriminates among Army personnel merely on the basis of type of official responsibility or favoring those of higher rank or rate of pay.
 - (b) The donor has interests that may be affected substantially by the performance or nonperformance of the recipient’s official duties.

2–8. Records

- a. Gift acceptance authorities or their field gift program managers will maintain and properly mark the official record of every gift accepted, declined, or sold under their acceptance authority in accordance with DoD 7000.14–R and AR 25–400–2.
- b. The organization receiving a gift, when other than the acceptance authority, will obtain and retain documentation and information regarding the gift, including the date nonmonetary gifts were transferred to the property records and the unique identifier or data element, if applicable.
- c. All records for monetary and nonmonetary gifts, including supporting documentation, will be retained for at least 10 years beyond the life of the gift for audit purposes in accordance with DoD 7000.14–R.

2-9. Reporting

- a. Gift acceptance authorities or their field gift program managers will report accepted gifts to the Army Gift Program Coordinator not later than 5 days after the end of each quarter of a fiscal year.

 - (13) The authority under which the gift was accepted (for example, 10 USC 2601(a)).

2-10. Accountability of gifts

- b. Gift acceptance authorities will maintain accountability of real property in accordance with AR 405-45 and AR 405-90.
- c. Gift acceptance authorities will maintain accountability of tangible personal property in accordance with AR 735-5 and AR 735-17.
- d. Gift acceptance authorities or their field gift program managers will designate a resource manager to manage applicable limits, or subaccounts, in the Army Gift Fund and Defense Cooperation Account.
- e. Proceeds from the sale of any gift of real or personal property will be deposited via mail or electronic funds transfer in the appropriate limit, or subaccount, of the Army Gift Fund (for gifts accepted pursuant to 10 USC 2601(a) and 10 USC 2601(b)) or the Defense Cooperation Account (for gifts accepted pursuant to 10 USC 2608).
- f. Proceeds from the sale of any gift of real or personal property will be reported in the quarterly report to the Army Gift Program Coordinator and DFAS.

2-11. Gifts of construction

- a. Gifts of construction, whether money or real property, require additional staffing and notification before construction can be executed.
- b. Gift acceptance authorities will forward offers for gifts of construction above their acceptance authority to the Army Gift Program Coordinator for review and processing.

2-12. Gifts to benefit museums and museum programs

- a. Certain gifts of personal property to benefit museums qualify as artifacts, which are accessioned into the Army's historical collection. These gifts will be processed for acceptance in accordance with AR 870-20.
- b. All other gifts (personal or real property, money, or services) to support a museum program will be—
 - (1) Staffed in accordance with paragraph 3-2, 3-3, or 3-4 as appropriate.
 - (2) Forwarded to the Chief, Military History/Executive Director, Center of Military History for review as part of the staffing process before acceptance by the appropriate gift acceptance authority.

2-13. Copyrighted or patented gifts

- a. Copyrighted or patented gifts are treated in the same way as a gift of an item not so protected.
- b. If a copyrighted or patented gift might be used for governmental purposes (within the scope of the copyright or patent), it is accepted only if the donor grants the Army a royalty-free license, to the extent necessary under the copyright or patent, or gratuitously assigns the copyright or patent to the United States.

2-14. Testamentary gifts

- a. A testamentary gift may be offered by an executor, executrix, personal representative, trustee, or other person who has a legal right to represent an estate or trust.
- b. The legal representative must submit a certified copy of the will or trust and the original court appointment or other documentation demonstrating authority to make the offer.
- c. A testamentary gift of real or personal property may not be accepted if a condition of the gift is that the Army sell the property or use it for a particular individual.
- d. All testamentary gifts require a written legal review, regardless of monetary value.
- e. In the event a testamentary gift is unconditional or the conditions of the gift may not be fulfilled, the gift acceptance authority will inform the legal representative of the estate or trust that the Army may not accept the testamentary gift absent court-ordered modification to the terms of the will or trust.
- f. Requests for U.S. Department of Justice representation in litigation involving Army interests will be processed in accordance with AR 27-40.

2-15. Federal income, estate, and gift taxes

- a. For the purposes of Federal income, estate, and gift taxes, gifts accepted under 10 USC 2601(a) and 10 USC 2601(b) are considered gifts or bequests to the United States.
- b. While written notification of acceptance of a gift constitutes the Army's acceptance and receipt, the Army will not render any opinion of value for a specific gift a donor has offered.
- c. The Army does not backdate or accept an offer on the condition that the offer is backdated for tax purposes. When asked, commands and activities must advise donors that it is their responsibility to consult a private tax expert for specific advice concerning the tax implications of gift giving.

2-16. Conveyance or transfer of a gift

- a. Upon acceptance, the SECARMY or gift acceptance authority may pay all, some, or none of the necessary expenses in connection with the conveyance or transfer of a gift.
- b. If the receiving official recommends that the Army pay expenses in connection with a gift, the gift action will detail the expenses.
- c. Gifts should not be accepted if acceptance results in substantial expenditures, or administrative efforts and maintenance are disproportionate to any benefit. Funds for paying expenses are the responsibility of the activity heads or commanders whose appropriations are properly chargeable with such costs.
- d. If a donor requires the Army to pay transportation expenses as a condition of the gift, the command, organization, or activity that will benefit from the gift must arrange transportation and include the details in the gift action.
- e. If an offer submitted for the SECARMY's acceptance recommends acceptance of conveyance or transportation costs, but does not demonstrate that a plan has been made for action upon acceptance, the offer will be returned to the originating office for further coordination.

2-17. Advertising and publicity

- a. Restrictions regarding advertising or publicity may not be placed on the donor. However, advertising or publicity cannot imply endorsement of the product by the Army, any Soldier, or any DA civilian employee.
 - (1) The donor may mark the gift indicating that it was donated by a particular person, group, or organization. However, the marking must be in good taste and cannot be worded so that it implies endorsement of the product by the Army or its military or civilian personnel.
 - (2) Acceptance of such a gift will not be construed as advertising or publicity by the Army.
- b. The receiving Army official should not publicly acknowledge receipt of the gift unless the SECARMY authorizes the official to do so.
 - (1) The receiving Army official is authorized to acknowledge receipt of such gifts in an appropriate letter to the donor on behalf of the individuals in the receiving command.
 - (2) The accepting official will not initiate publicity for the donor.
 - (3) The donor may not receive special concessions or privileges.

2–18. Transfer of title

- a. The title to, or ownership of, a gift of tangible or intangible personal property transfers to the United States when a person authorized to do so accepts the gift offer.
- b. The title to real property transfers to the United States when the Corps of Engineers accepts the deed on behalf of the Army.

2–19. Acknowledgment of future gifts

Acceptance authorities may acknowledge offers of future gifts and advise donors that acceptance will occur after actual presentation of the gift only when they determine that such acceptance will likely occur.

Chapter 3

Gifts for the Benefit of Army Organizations and Personnel

3–1. Limited gift acceptance authority

a. 10 USC 2601 permits acceptance of certain gifts to benefit Army organizations. The SECARMY, or designee, may accept—

(1) A gift, devise, or bequest of real property, personal property, or money made on the condition that the gift, devise, or bequest be used for the benefit of, or in connection with, the establishment, operation, or maintenance of a school, hospital, library, museum, cemetery, or other institution or organization under the SECARMY's jurisdiction.

(2) Services that are incidental to a gift of real or personal property (see para 3–4a).

(3) Services for a military museum program from a nonprofit entity established for the purpose of supporting a military museum program (see para 3–4b).

(4) Modest items of personal property (for example, magazines, sporting event tickets, light refreshments, entertainment media) that promote health, comfort, convenience, or morale intended for distribution by Army officials to Soldiers assigned to an organization under the SECARMY's jurisdiction. Upon acceptance, commanders and heads of benefiting organizations, not the donor, determine the category of personnel eligible to receive the gifts. Alcohol, tobacco, e-cigarettes and e-liquids may not be accepted.

b. 10 USC 2601(a) also permits the SECARMY to solicit from a bona fide collector a gift of books, manuscripts, works of art, historical artifacts, drawings, plans, models, or condemned or obsolete combat materiel to benefit an Army museum program.

c. 10 USC 2601(b) permits acceptance of gifts to benefit certain Army personnel.

(1) The SECARMY, or designee, may accept a gift of real property, personal property, money, or services made on the condition that the gift be used for the benefit of military and civilian personnel who incur a wound, injury, or illness while in the line of duty, and for the benefit of the dependents and survivors of such Army personnel.

(2) Services may be accepted, provided the donor is not a foreign government or international organization.

(3) A gift of real property, personal property, or money from a foreign government or international organization may be accepted only if not designated for a specific individual.

(4) The donor may condition a gift on its use for the benefit of a limited class of personnel (for example, the victims of a particular aircraft accident.)

3–2. Offers of money or personal property

a. A gift offer must be in writing and contain enough details to demonstrate present intent, authority, and ability to give the gift to the Army (see fig 3–1).

b. A gift offer must specify the conditions on the use of the gift.

c. Other supporting documents may be required, as needed, to clarify donor intent and Army responsibilities concerning the transfer, conveyance, use, and disposal of the proffered gift.

d. The Army organization that would benefit from the gift, if accepted, will—

Chapter 4

Gifts for Army Programs, Projects, and Activities

4–1. Limited gift acceptance authority

- a. 10 USC 2608 permits the Secretary of Defense to accept and use gifts of money, real property, and personal property for any DoD program, project, or activity. The Secretary of Defense may also accept services from a foreign government or international organization for DoD's use.
- b. The Secretary of Defense has delegated authority to the SECARMY to accept from any person, business, or international organization any contribution of real or personal property for the Army's use. This authority is not further delegated.
- c. The Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) retains authority to accept all other contributions.

- d. Contributions of money and proceeds from the sale of any property accepted under this authority will be credited to the Defense Cooperation Account.
- e. 10 USC 2608 requires both an authorization and an appropriation before the expenditure of funds in the Defense Cooperation Account.

 - (i) The appropriation that benefits from the contribution. Identify the appropriation that normally provides this asset.
 - (3) Provide a written legal review that analyzes the statutory authority to accept the type of gift (money, personal property, real property, or service) proffered by the type of donor (person, domestic organization, foreign government, or international organization). When the donor is a prohibited source, the legal review will advise the gift acceptance authority that sensitivity and scrutiny are required and address whether accepting a contribution from the prohibited source would violate any prohibition or reflect unfavorably on the Army.

Gifts to Army Personnel from Foreign Governments

8-1. Limited gift acceptance authority

a. 5 USC 7342 permits Army personnel to accept gifts of minimal value, tendered and received as a mark of courtesy from a foreign government.

b. 5 USC 7342 does not permit the Army to accept foreign gifts presented to units or groups. However, foreign gifts presented to units may be accepted pursuant to 10 USC 2601.

c. Foreign decorations and awards may only be accepted pursuant to guidance in AR 600–8–22.

8-2. Foreign government

For the purposes of this authority, “foreign government” means—

a. Any unit of foreign governmental authority, including any foreign national, state, local, and municipal government;

b. Any international or multinational organization whose membership is composed of any unit of foreign government described in paragraph 8-2a.

c. Any agent or representative of any such unit or such organization, while acting as such.

8-3. Gifts of minimal value

a. Every 3 years, in consultation with the U.S. Department of State, GSA adjusts the minimal value amount to capture changes in the Consumer Price Index. To find the current minimal value, go to 41 CFR 102–40 or contact the Army Gift Program Coordinator at usarmy.pentagon.hqda-oaa.mbx.army-gift-program@army.mil.

b. Employees must notify their organization upon receipt of a gift from a foreign official to determine the value of the gift and its acceptability.

c. Employees may accept and retain gifts of minimal value received as souvenirs or marks of courtesy.

d. The recipient and the recipient’s organization must use an approved valuation method to determine the value of the gift and must maintain a record of the circumstances surrounding the presentation of the gift.

e. The recipient must take all reasonable steps to determine the U.S. retail value of the gift. Acceptable methods are—

(1) The price of the same or similar item offered for sale in a legitimate U.S. retail market.

(2) The manufacturer’s retail price.

If doubt exists about the actual U.S. retail value and the recipient cannot determine a value using the options in paragraph 8-3e, the recipient’s organization may pay for an appraisal to determine the value. However, the recipient should consult with the servicing legal office about the need to obtain an appraisal.

g. The recipient may dispose of any item equal to or less than the minimal value either at the recipient's discretion or through the organization's appropriate property accountability official and office in accordance with AR 735–5.

h. If the same source gives multiple gifts at the same presentation, aggregate the values to determine if the gifts are above or below the minimal value GSA defined. Do not aggregate the value of gifts from the same source at different presentations (even if on the same day) or different sources at the same presentation.

8–4. Gifts of more than minimal value

a. If possible, when a gift of more than minimal value is offered, the recipient should politely and respectfully decline the offer unless—

(1) The refusal would likely offend or embarrass the donor or could adversely affect U.S. foreign relations.

(2) The gift is an educational scholarship, medical treatment, or travel. The recipient may accept travel or expenses for travel, including transportation, food, and lodging, only if that travel—

(a) Occurs entirely outside the United States, except if travel across the continental United States is the shortest, least costly, or sole route available to the destination.

(b) Is in the best interests of the Army and the U.S. Government.

(c) Is approved in advance by the appropriate travel approving authority.

(d) Does not fall within the category of travel expense governed by 31 USC 1353.

(4) Circumstances justifying acceptance. Describe the circumstances surrounding the presentation of the gift and why the gift was accepted.

(5) Date of acceptance. Provide the full date (day, month, year) the gift was accepted.

(6) Appraised value. Identify the estimated (or appraised) value of the gift in U.S. dollars, including the cost of the appraisal. (The recipient's organization must obtain a commercial appraisal before the gift is offered for sale to the employee.) (See para 8–3c for appraisal requirements.)

(7) Current location of the item. Provide the current location (complete address) of the gift.

(8) Recipient's organization point of contact. Provide the full name, address, and telephone number of the accountable official in the organization.

(9) Disposition request. Indicate whether the recipient wants to buy the gift, turn it in to GSA, or request that it be placed on official display or used for official purposes.

(10) Presidential administration. Identify the Presidential administration in office when the gift was given.

8–5. Disposition procedures

a. Gifts equal to or less than minimal value may be retained by the recipient or turned in as excess property through the recipient's property accountability office in accordance with AR 735–5.

b. All requests to retain and display, for official use, a gift of more than minimal value must be submitted to the Army Gift Program Coordinator.

(1) The request must be a memorandum on official DA letterhead signed by the recipient. The request must provide the information outlined in paragraph 8–4c, as well as a detailed description of how and where the gift will be displayed.

(2) The Army Gift Program Coordinator will act on the request. Approval to display an item above minimal value will—

- (a) Be approved by GSA and forwarded to the recipient and the Army Gift Program Coordinator.
 - (b) State that the gift may not be used for the benefit or personal use of any individual employee, but that all employees are provided the opportunity to receive direct benefit (for example, on display in a headquarters office).
 - (c) Require that within 30 calendar days after the departure of the recipient or termination of the official use, the recipient's organization must forward the gift to the Army Gift Program Coordinator for turn-in to GSA.
 - (d) State that the recipient organization's property accountability official is responsible for caring for, handling, and securing the item in accordance with AR 735-5.
- c. All requests to purchase a gift of more than minimal value, using the recipient's personal funds, must be submitted to the Army Gift Program Coordinator to obtain GSA approval.
- (1) The request must be signed by the recipient on official letterhead, provide the information outlined in paragraph 8-4c and include a commercial appraisal:
 - (a) The recipient may obtain the commercial appraisal.
 - (b) Commercial appraisals must be on the appraiser's official company letterhead, prepared in the United States, dated, and expressed in U.S. dollars.
 - (2) The Army Gift Program Coordinator will submit the memorandum and the commercial appraisal to the GSA Foreign Gifts Program coordinator for approval and guidance. Once GSA provides the guidance and approves the request, the Army Gift Program Coordinator will coordinate with the recipient's point of contact.
 - (3) The gift will remain in the physical custody and be the responsibility of the recipient's property accountability official until GSA acts on the recipient's request to purchase the item. If GSA declines the request, the recipient's property accountability official will follow the turn-in procedures identified immediately below.
 - d. All requests to turn in a gift of more than minimal value must be submitted to the Army Gift Program Coordinator for coordination with GSA.
 - (1) The request must be signed by the recipient on official letterhead and provide the information outlined in paragraph 8-4c.
 - (2) The recipient's property accountability official is responsible for coordinating delivery of the gift to the Army Gift Program Coordinator. Until then, the recipient's property accountability official remains responsible for the physical custody of the gift.
 - (3) Upon receipt of the gift, the Army Gift Program Coordinator assumes responsibility for the physical custody of the gift while coordinating the turn-in with the GSA Foreign Gifts Program Coordinator.

8-6. Firearms

- a. Firearms of minimal value must be reported and processed in accordance with paragraph 8-3. To retain a firearm of minimal value, the recipient must obtain a legal review to ensure compliance with all Federal, State, and local laws and regulations regarding the registration, transportation, and possession of a firearm.
 - b. Firearms of more than minimal value must be—
 - (1) Reported to the Army Gift Program Coordinator as specified in paragraph 8-4b and 8-4c.
 - (2) Stored in the unit arms room or other location authorized by the installation commander (or equivalent) until GSA makes a determination on the appropriate disposition of these items according to procedures established under 40 USC 121(c)(2), 41 CFR 102-40, and 41 CFR 102-42.
 - c. A weapon that has been rendered permanently inoperable is not considered to be a firearm.

Failure to comply with the mandatory requirements identified in this chapter may constitute an offense under Article 92, Uniform Code of Military Justice for military members and result in disciplinary action or other adverse action under civilian personnel regulations for DA Civilians. Commanders will take appropriate administrative or disciplinary action against violators.

Internal Control Evaluation

B–1. Function

The functions covered by this evaluation are the administration of the Army Gift Program, including review and reporting requirements.

B–2. Purpose

The purpose of this evaluation is to assist delegated gift acceptance authorities in evaluating the key internal controls outlined in paragraph B–4. It is not intended to cover all controls.

B–3. Instructions

These key internal controls must be formally evaluated at least once every 5 years. Certification that evaluation has been conducted must be accomplished on DA Form 11–2 (Internal Control Evaluation Certification). Answers must be based on the actual testing of internal controls (such as document analysis, direct observation, sampling, and simulation). Answers that indicate deficiencies must be explained and corrective action indicated in supporting documentation.

B–4. Test questions

- a. Was a legal review completed?
- b. Did the proper level acceptance authority accept the gift?
- c. Did delegated gift acceptance authorities submit timely reports of all gifts and donations accepted under 10 USC 2601(a) and (b)?
- d. Did the Army Gift Program Coordinator submit timely reports to DFAS?
- e. Were submitted reports complete?
- f. Are Army academic institution foundations' websites reviewed quarterly for improper Army fundraising activities in accordance with paragraph 1–7?

B–5. Supersession

Not applicable.

B–6. Comments

Help to make this a better tool for evaluating internal controls. Submit comments to usarmy.pentagon.hqda-aaa.mbx.army-gift-program@army.mil.
