

Army Transportation Command (ARTRANS)

Customer and Carrier Advisory

Oct 02, 2025

CA-25-10-02/0062

Subject: Surface Deployment and Distribution Command (SDDC) Becomes Army Transportation Command (ARTRANS)

Purpose: To notify stakeholders of the name change from Surface Deployment and Distribution Command (SDDC) to Army Transportation Command (ARTRANS).

Be Advised: On 24 September 2025, the Military Surface Deployment and Distribution Command (SDDC) was redesignated as the U.S. Army Transportation Command (ARTRANS).

The renaming to ARTRANS provides greater clarity and consistency with other Army service component commands within other functional combatant commands. Adopting the name ARTRANS maintains consistency with these established conventions and reinforces the command's critical role within the Army's operational framework.

ARTRANS remains the Army service component command to the U.S. Transportation Command and a major subordinate command of the U.S. Army Materiel Command. ARTRANS retains its core competencies while adopting enhanced capabilities and a renewed focus on global transportation excellence in support of the Department of War and Joint Deployment and Distribution Enterprise.

Updates to publications, systems, websites, and documents are ongoing.
