Skies are MVFR, and there is a threat of LGT RIME ICING (FL020-040) til around 10L. Thereafter, skies will scatter out, giving way to a VFR and hazard-free PM. Surface winds will be a little gusty during the AM/PM today and tomorrow, but otherwise, the weather looks great for training. It's smooth sailing til late Tuesday night into Wednesday AM, when a couple of light showers could move in.
